S.F. Public Utilities Commission Asks Bond Issue for Airport Building

The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission Monday recommended $20,000,000 bond issue for improvement of San Francisco Airport, in San Mateo County, and asked the San Francisco Board of Supervisors to submit the proposition to the voters at the earliest possible time.

The plan is for construction to supplement the $10,000,000 improvement program now under way financed by the army and navy in exchange for transfer of title of Treasure Island to the federal government.

Among the major projects in the plan is the removal of Bayshore Highway, which now bisects the airport property. The highway would be moved westward to permit development of industrial sites as well as runway extensions.

SUGARS FROM FARM WASTES

Corncobs, sugarcane bagasse, flax shives, oat hulls, cottonseed hulls, and other farm wastes have all been found to be satisfactory sources of sugars suitable for the manufacture of such industrial solvents as ethanol furfural, butanol, and acetone, by a new process developed.

ASBESTOS—THE MAGIC MINERAL

Asbestos has been known for centuries. Ancient Romans used it in funeral shrouds to preserve the ashes of their dead in funeral pyres. Charlemagne the Great scared one of his enemies out of a war by making a tablecloth of asbestos and cleansing it with fire in front of his adversary's envoys.

Today, asbestos—which is mined as is coal or granite—is used in man's constant fight against fire, weather and wear. Johns-Manville has built a great industry with asbestos as its key product.

By making asbestos into felt, J-M has produced roofing famous for durability and minimum upkeep cost.

J-M roofing and siding shingles of asbestos and cement reproduce the beauty of wood, yet are fireproof, rotproof, practically everlasting.

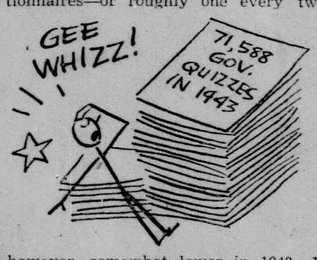
In J-M brake lining, asbestos helps control automobiles, hoists, cranes, steam shovels.

Combined with cement into J-M Transite, asbestos forms corrugated roofing and siding impervious to fire and weather, resistant to fumes—and water pipe immune to electrolysis and resistant to corrosion.

Asbestos—the rock which fluffs like silk—has hundreds of other uses, and J-M uses them all!

Talk About the $64 Question

During 1943, Johns-Manville prepared and filed with various divisions of government 71,588 reports and questionnaires—or roughly one every two minutes during every regular business hour of the year. This figure is more than 2½ times that for 1942, when 27,198 reports were filed.

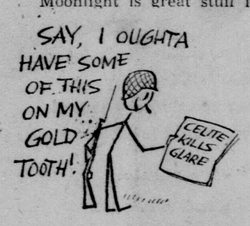


Reflecting in a large degree J-M's increased efficiency in handling the reports, the cost to the company in time and money was, however, somewhat lower in 1943. During 1943, 97,452 manhours of work costing $146,000 were consumed in preparing the reports, compared with 132,560 manhours and $192,500 in 1942.

The total cost of over one-third of a million dollars during the two years represents 40 cents per share of common stock, and is the equivalent of over $24 per employee.

Pipe Down, Harvest Moon!

Moonlight is great stuff in its place, as any pair of young lovers can tell you. But it may be a deadly giveaway to the enemy if reflected on a ship, plane, tank or military building.



Here's where Johns-Manville comes in with a peacetime product for a wartime use. A J-M material, Celite, reduces reflection of light when mixed with paint, lacquer or enamel. It was just what Uncle Sam was looking for to keep the enemy from seeing what he was looking for.

Huddart Park Problem Given To Ferrell

San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Tuesday referred the matter of acceptance on behalf of the county, of Huddart Park in the Woodside area as a gift to Dist. Atty. Gilbert D. Ferrell for a study of the legal problems involved.

A large delegation voiced their thoughts on the acceptance and several urged that the 973-acre property left by James M. Huddart, lumberman, be accepted by the county. The matter of water rights is a drawback to the acceptance, however, it was pointed out.

Mal Coombs, county recreation director, said a survey had been made and declared that the Huddart area "fits the blueprint of our needs."

Among points stressed by Coombs, as well as others who spoke, were the location is ideal for recreational purposes, it is easily accessible, overnight camp sites are needed for Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA and other youth groups, and that there are good trails for horsemen and it is an excellent site for hikers.

County Fire Warden Bert L. Werder said that he knew Huddart before his death and knew that Huddart wanted the property to be "for public use and nothing else." He said that if it does cost money it would be worth the expenditure to provide a recreational area for youngsters. He pointed out that this would be a constructive way to counteract youth delinquency.

P. K. Winchell, of the San Mateo County Horsemen's Assn., said he believed every civic-minded citizen should be vitally interested in the acquisition of the property.

Albert L. Baker, executor of the Huddart estate, challenged a statement made by Arthur V. Swift, member of the County Recreation Commission and former member of the State Parks Commission, to the effect that the reason the state did not accept the property was that it was small in comparison to other state property.

Mufflers on Cars Taboo: Council

Youthful owners of automobiles in Redwood City will have to do something about noisy automobiles that are without mufflers, Redwood City councilmen warned Monday after directing Police Chief C. L. Collins to impound a few of the automobiles if necessary.

Councilman George McNulty brought the matter to the attention of the council, declaring that the noise from automobiles equipped with straight-pipe, cut-outs and other mechanical devices to amplify the roar of the motor were a nuisance.

City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy explained that although there is no city ordinance against mufflerless or noisy autos, the State Motor Vehicle Code is quite specific about outlawing any such devices and that action can be taken against those who attempt to ignore the council's warning.

Bayshore Traffic Halted By Automobile Crash

Traffic on Bayshore Hwy. was halted for a brief time this Tuesday at 7:20 o'clock when automobiles driven by John Polyniak, 31, of 688 Roble Ave., Menlo Park, and Ernest Henry Cooksey, 39, of 815 South Idaho, San Mateo, collided near San Bruno Rd., California State Highway Patrolmen said today.

No one was injured in the accident which patrolmen said occurred when Cooksey, driving north on Bayshore, made a left turn into San Bruno Rd. and the autos collided.

Ice Hockey Season Opens In Bay Area

San Francisco will get its first taste of big-league organized ice hockey next Saturday night at Winterland when the San Francisco Shamrocks and the Oakland Oaks inaururate a 30-week season of ice play here as a unit of the new Pacific Coast Hockey League.

The Shamrocks just won their first session of league play in San Diego last weekend. George J. Campbell, vice president and general manager of Winterland, home of both the Shamrocks and the Oaks, declared that the San Diego game was a "warm-up" for the start of actual league play here.

Seattle, Portland, Vancouver, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Hollywood and San Diego will all have teams playing regularly in the Coast Hockey circuit, Campbell said. There will be two games each week at Winterland, on Wednesday and Saturday nights, with a constant rotation of teams, he stated.

Players for the Shamrocks and the Oaks have been recruited throughout this country and Canada and two collections of top-notch hockey players have been set for the season, Campbell declared.

The war-time difficulties of transportation and kindred problems are being met as they arise, according to Campbell.

"We believe that we can present big-time hockey from the start of our season and we shall do everything possible to keep it good and make it better as we go along," he declared.

Campbell said that more than two dozen players have been signed up for the local start of the ice hockey season.

Ferrell Promises Crackdown in County To Get Better Military Personnel Control

Alarmed over the increase in crime in San Mateo County, Dist. Atty. G. D. Ferrell this week promised a crackdown on gambling and an attempt to secure better military control of military personnel.

Taking cognizance of the number of crimes that has been brought before his office of late — including the murder last week in Burlingame of Hugh F. Rose, Redwood City chain store manager by a soldier, and the alleged statutory raping of a 16-year-old Sequoia High School girl by a sailor in Redwood City yesterday morning — Ferrell said he was considering the calling of a conference of all law enforcement officers and another meeting with military authorities.

Ferrell said he was considering asking military authorities to "tighten up" on its military personnel.

Ferrell pointed out that an influx of war workers and military personnel has contributed greatly to the increase in crime in this county and said that gamblers are taking advantage of the war condition with its high wages.

He declared he felt the problem was one for consideration of military authorities as well as for civilian officials.

Ferrell indicated that some bookies have taken his warning to halt bookmaking and have stopped their activities. Others, however, apparently have not taken seriously his warning issued last week.

Part of Burglary Loot Found in S.F.

BURLINGAME—A wallet stolen from a tenant in the Bayshore Motel on Bayshore Hwy. in Burlingame—part of the loot of $3450 burglary early Sunday morning—was recovered Monday in South San Francisco, after being abandoned in a cocktail lounge.

The wallet—stolen from C. M. Lingle, an employe of the Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corp.—contained $224 in payroll checks and army, navy and coast guard passes to air installations. Missing was $350 in cash.

Otherwise, police reported, there was no clue to the burglar who early entered three apartments in the motel and sneaked off with $2880, belonging to Lingle and his wife, Lingle's wallet, and a camera and $17 belonging to another tenant.

The wallet was found in a South San Francisco bar with a wallet which the burglar took from Mrs. Lingle's purse, but which contained no valuables.

Both parties to the transaction were represented by Robert H. Smith of the Easton Realty Co.

GRANTS PROBATION

Superior Court Judge Maxwell McNutt Monday granted J. B. Clayton, San Mateo Negro, two years' probation on condition he serve six months in the county jail. Clayton earlier had been found guilty of taking cases of beer from a San Mateo warehouse and was convicted of second degree burglary.

Right of Ownership May Determine Whether S.M. County Will Take Over Control of 973-Acre Huddart Park Site

Riparian rights along a little San Mateo County stream known as Squealer Creek may play an all-important role in the decision of the board of supervisors Tuesday on a proferred gift of 973½ acres of land for a public reserve.

County Fire Warden Bert L. Werder, who claims to be the first man to know that it was the intention of the late James M. Huddart to give the land to the public, said today the water rights should not constitute a serious stumbling block.

"As far as I can see, the water from Squealer Creek would be distributed just as it is now. There isn't any new problem," Werder commented.

However, a search of the records disclosed that the water rights on Squealer Creek were the subject of litigation as far back as 1913.

Werder said that Huddart came to the Woodside area and purchased his estate largely to regain his health by living in the open. Two years before he died he called Werder to his home and disclosed to him, in the presence of Mary Huddart, his desire to give the bulk of his land to the public.

"Huddart didn't want the area subdivided. He didn't want it to go to his relatives, who were already well provided for. He wanted to keep the land as a park, largely in its natural state, for the benefit of children and young people," Werder said. "He called me in because he knew I was associated with the Boy Scouts, with the YMCA, and that I had aided the campaign to establish Memorial Park.

"He wanted to keep this park in its primitive state. And he didn't want it parcelled out to the heirs of his estate."

In his will, Mr. Huddart left some of his property to his sister, Miss Mary Huddart with the provision that "water will be furnished" to her land without cost in the same manner as it was furnished when the will was written.

Huddart first diverted water of Squealer Creek with a dam he built in 1904. In 1911 Mortimer Fleishhacker, whose land is not riparian to the creek, built a dam above Huddart's in September and October of 1911. All this according to a suit filed by Huddart in superior court in 1913 against Fleishhacker.

It was Huddart's complaint that Fleishhacker built the dam without right, and despite warnings from Huddart. Huddart contended that the Fleishhacker property does not border the creek and that Fleishhacker had no right to the water.

Judge Buck ruled for Huddart. In his decision, written in his own hand and still legible in the original file, Judge Buck established Huddart's prior right to the waters of the creek. The judge said, in effect, that Huddart was entitled to 32,000 gallons each 24 hours, and if he needed more later he would have the figure revised.

But Fleishhacker continued to divert waters of the creek and apparently there was an agreement between Fleishhacker, the banker, and Huddart, the lumberman, as to the division. Fleishhacker reduced the "agreement" to writing in connection with the administration of the Huddart estate, and the weighty question of water rights.

Meanwhile James Flood purchased the Mary Huddart lands with the appurtenant water right.

According to rumor the line to the Flood property feeds not from the old Huddart line, but from the Fleishhacker line, a concession won by Flood when he threatened to challenge the Fleishhacker water rights on Squealer Creek in the face of his own rights, under the Huddart will.

City Council Turns Down Claim for $8000 Damages

An $8000 claim for injuries and damages assertedly incurred by his 5-year-old son, Rodney, at the Hawes Park playground on Aug. 19 was Monday denied R. E. McDaniel of 2159 Oak Knoll Dr., at a meeting of the Redwood City Council.

The claim, which alleges that playground equipment was in a "dangerous condition" and that city and Redwood City elementary school district employes did "recklessly, carelessly and negligently fail to exercise ordinary supervision" of the minor, names the City of Redwood City, Jane Doe Adams and Carolyn Chiappelone, employes of the school district, and Alfred Morton, director of the city's recreation department.

According to the claim, the boy sustained a fractured leg and "a great shock to his nervous system." For medicine, X-ray, hospitalization, and medical treatment, McDaniel asked $500, $372.05 of which has been incurred to date, McDaniel said. He asked $7500 to compensate the boy for injuries and damages.

Acting on a motion of Councilman Carl Britschgi, the council members unanimously voted to deny the claim and to refer it to the insurance company.

At the council meeting, a license to operate a used car lot at 332 El Camino Real was granted to W. A. Van Buren after the matter had been under consideration for several weeks.

Objection to the granting of additional licenses for used car lots on the highway was previously voiced by Councilmen Britschgi and C. C. Armstrong, and the matter was referred to the city planning commissioners who recommended the license be granted.

Councilman Armstrong cast a dissenting vote to the granting of the license.

A measure to tax public utilities in Redwood City was introduced by Councilman Armstrong who reported for the council's tax committee.

The council directed that letters be sent to the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., Western Union Telegraph Co., and the Southern Pacific Co., requesting estimates of the companies' gross receipts in Redwood City for the 4-year period from July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1944.

With that information, the council indicated that a tax would be levied on the utilities for business licenses that were not paid.

Unanimous approval was given by an ordinance to license theaters in the city on a seating-capacity basis. The levy, which will be on a quarterly basis, places a yearly sum of $150 on theaters with a capacity of from 500 to 1000 persons, and $500 on theaters seating from 1000 to 1500 persons.

Although the planning commission had recommended the resubdivision of a lot on the southeast corner of Myrtle and James Sts., the councilmen denied the proposal after several objections from residents of the neighborhood had been heard.

A letter from Mrs. Josephine Offerman, owner of a nearby lot, was read, and Thomas R. Giannini, 445 Myrtle St., appeared before the council to object to the resubdivision.

Approval of the state law enforcement mutual aid plan was given after City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy explained that under the plan, policemen who would be called upon to duty in districts outside their own would be provided with the protection in respect to official capacity.

The plan provides for co-operation of law enforcement bodies in county, regional, and state locations. In case of disaster, sabotage or other events in which additional policemen might be needed in an area, communities may send volunteers from their police departments and have the men fully protected in respect to official duty, insurance and the like, it was explained.

An ordinance defining detached building, was read by Attorney McCarthy and approved by the council. The measure, which is an amendment to the building ordinance, states that additions to a house must be "structurally united to form a single integral structure," in order to be permitted in a first-class residential district.

Seek P.A. Negro In Wife Stabbing

Palo Alto police Monday were looking for T. Stephens, 30-year-old Negro, on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, after he allegedly stabbed his wife with a pocket knife at 255 Homer Ave. yesterday morning, police report.

The suspect, said to be an employee at Tanforan, disappeared after the incident which climaxed a family quarrel, when, police heard, he had threatened to kill his wife.

The stabbing took place after Mrs. Stephens returned to her home. She had spent Saturday night with a woman friend. Mrs. Stephens was taken to the county hospital for treatment of lacerations on the right shoulder and scalp abrasions.

Asks $55,000 Damages For Accident Injuries

Joseph Rayon, carpenter, today had asked $55,440 damages and Evelyn Morrison, housekeeper, asked $5086 damages for injuries received when they assertedly were struck by an automobile driven by Alice Bele Tozier on El Camino Real at Willow St. on Apr. 16.

Rayon claimed he suffered a fracture of the right leg necessitating amputation of the leg at the knee. The housekeeper alleged she suffered numerous injuries. They charged the driver of the car with negligence.

S.M. County Tax Rate Approaches New Peak

San Mateo County's $1.1485 county tax rate for general purposes this year is next to the highest rate the county has levied during the past six years, the California Taxpayers' Assn. reported.

As part of an analysis conducted by the association to determine the trend of county tax rates since 1939-40, the figures show that low rate for the 6-year period was $1.0554 per $100 of assessed valuation in 1942-43.

High point for the 6-year period was in 1941-42 when the rate reached $1.2335.

About two million children between the ages of 14 and 16 quit school in 1942.

Gravediggers' Counsel To Appear

Superior Court Judge Aylett R. Cotton Monday afternoon advised Walter J. Perry of Menlo Park and Cole V. Madison of Mountain View, who have confessed to disinterring and mutilating a body in a Menlo Park grave, to have their attorneys in court next Monday.

Yesterday afternoon had been set as the time for Perry to plead and time for trial was to have been set for Madison. Neither had his attorney in court, however, and Judge Cotton continued the case to next Monday.

Madison and Perry had been ruled insane by Superior Court Judge Andrew R. Schottky when they were tried here in August on testimony of a psychiatric board and sentenced them to the Mendocino State Hospital at Ukiah. They recently were judged sane, however, and returned here for retrial.

Hold Two Ranchers In La Honda Theft

Two San Gregorio ranchers were in the county jail here this week charged with burglary and petty theft and two 17-year-old boys were held for investigation of burglarizing a garage of a cabin home at La Honda.

Justice of the Peace Edward I. McAuliffe set bail at $100 each for Emilio Brotherton, 32, and Silvio Modena, 32, who were arrested by deputy sheriffs yesterday afternoon. The two youths will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore said the four had taken several items including a boat from the garage at La Honda of Sam McDonald, member of the Stanford Board of Athletic Control. Among other items taken and found in their possession were boots, saws, oars and wrenches. No value was placed on the articles.

PAPER PATRIOTISM

War plants have aided waste paper salvage drives by placing red, white and blue barrels in handy spots, to remind workers that waste paper is needed, and to urge greater care in segregating paper from garbage and other refuse.

Three hundred million years ago one-third of the United States was covered by tangled swamps.

Total church membership in the United States in 1942 was 68,150,186.

Ask Supervisors for Aid in South S.M. County Airport Plan

Declaring that aviation is now in the smouldering stage and that it will erupt into one of the biggest industries of the future, a delegation of air-minded persons Tuesday urged the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to assist in establishin an airport district in South San Mateo County.

The district would embrace cities and communities now in the Sequoia High School Dist.

Lt. Oscar Sponheim of the Civil Air Patrol declared that interest in aviation is growing in leaps and bounds and said that airports are needed for private planes and charter planes.

Lieutenant Sponheim said Mills Field probably would be one of the largest airfields in the world but pointed out it will be confined to commercial use.

"The smallest hamlets are getting airports," he said. "I don't say it will be a money-making proposition for the county. Neither is our school system."

John De Polo, Sequoia instructor, declared it is obvious that "we are going into an air age" and said that service men have asked that Redwood City and San Mateo County not be left behind in regards to airports.

Carl Ferrell, who recently received a medical discharge from the army air corps, said that "fellows flying today will want to fly when they get back."

Robert W. Mead, Redwood City city manager, said the council here is interested in airports in this area and pointed out the recommendation was that the supervisors co-ordinate a district to comprise possibility the Sequoia High School Dist.

Supervisor Chmn. Fred E. Beer told the delegation that Planning Advisor Ronald Campbell is serving on several committees looking for airport sites in the Bay Area.

Beer said a matter of this kind would have to go through the County Planning Commission before action could be taken by the supervisors. He said the planning commission has nothing concrete to present as yet.

S & W Awarded 'A' Flag for Wartime Production in R.C.

"The 'A' Award Flag is a symbol to us that right here in Redwood City both labor and management have played a vital part in the war effort," said Pres. J. Blumlein of the S&W Fine Foods as he addressed the workers and officials of the plant, and many distinguished guests of the Bay Region, who had gathered Monday at the Redwood City S&W Plant for the presentation of the "A" award.

Mr. Blumlein further thanked all who had helped out at the plant during the peak canning season, the volunteer workers composed of young people from high school, business men and housewives.

Col. Arthur W. Stanley (QMC), director of procurement, California Quatermaster Depot, Oakland, who in the name of the undersecretary of war, presented the flag which was accepted by Blumlein and Mary La Magra, for the employes and was in turn raised by the color guard of Redwood City American Legion Post 105, represented by Harry A. Harrison Sr., past commander, and Thomas Vernall, adjutant.

The token presentation of the "A" pins to be worn by the workers was made by PFC John C. Roberts, a veteran of the Guinea campaign, and the acceptance by Manuel Ribera, Mrs. Rose Bruno and Joseph Perez. Inscribed on the pins is "Food Is a Decisive Weapon of War."

Master of ceremonies was newscaster and commentator Sam Hayes, who came up from Hollywood for the ceremony. Others taking part in the program included Chaplain George Z. Zentgraf, lieutenant colonel Western Defense Command, Presidio, San Francisco, who gave the invocation; A. J. Falk, vice president of the company; Lt. Pearl Fuchs of Dibble Hospital; Weston Suttlemeier and Bob Greene of KGO.

Edmonds Continues To Lead Dr. O'Neill

The absentee vote count completed to date in the closely contested race for county supervisor from the third district at noon today stood at 1511 for Lt. Col. Henry W. Edmonds to 1438 for Dr. A. E. O'Neill. Both men are from Redwood City. Colonel Edmonds had a lead of 958 votes in the precinct vote Nov. 7 according to the county clerk's unofficial tally.

Redwood City Youth Among First To Land on Leyte Isle

Gunner's Mate 3/c Douglas H. Perry, former student at Sequoia High School, was aboard the S.S. David Dudley Field, first Liberty ship to arrive in the Philippines and first Liberty ship to shoot down a Japanese Zero in that area, an Associated Press dispatch relates.

Perry is a member of the armed guard aboard the vessel which steamed into Leyte Gulf unescorted one day after American troops had landed.

The ship, which carried 50 additional troops for the fighting fronts, was loaded with 105 and 155 mm. howitzer shells for the 24th Division Artillery. Its holds carried hundreds of .50 caliber machine guns and mortars.

Without docking facilities, the ship was unloaded by her own merchant marine crew who labored day and night to empty her holds.

Four days after the landing, Oct. 20, Jap strafing planes winged in for a heavy attack on shipping in the bay. One plane picked out the Liberty ship and came in barely 50 feet above the water.

The navy gun crews opened up. The pilot sought to crash his plane against the ship after the gunners hit the Zero just off the port side and a wing caught fire.

It came on, even though the gunners frantically attempted to beat it off. Its wing hit the port gun position and shattered on the starboard side. All guns had stopped firing except one which was still blazing away when the Zero spread its wreckage over the bridge.

Coast Guard Asks More Volunteers

The Volunteer Port Security Force, U. S. Coast Guard temporary reserve, has taken over a Peninsula station and has relieved a regular coast guard unit for sea duty, it was said this week. But there is still need for additional men to man the station with a full crew 24-hours a day, officers of the Peninsula unit pointed out.

Volunteers are required to serve two six-hour watches each week. The present need is for men on the daylight watches, it was stressed.

Duty is not physically arduous, it was pointed out. Volunteers are trained and equipped by the coast guard to stand sentry duty at a vital installation.

Information about the new Peninsula unit may be obtained at Room 103, City Hall, Redwood City, or at the San Mateo police station. The San Francisco headquarters is in the Appraiser's Bldg.

Ellis To Be Tried by Military Court Martial in Rose Murder

PFC Andrew J. Ellis, 22-year-old convalescent patient at Dibble General Hospital, Menlo Park, will be tried by general court-martial for the murder of Hugh F. Rose, 31-year-old Redwood City chain grocery store manager whose severely-stabbed body was found in his Burlingame apartment Thursday morning.

Chief Dep. Dist. Atty. A. S. Whitmore said that the army has the paramount right to try Ellis for the murder to which he has confessed and the army's request that he be prosecuted by the military was granted yesterday afternoon. Ellis was removed from the county jail here last night under military guard to confinement at an unannounced post.

Col. Charles Steele, provost marshal of the Central Security Dist., told the Tribune today that Ellis would be tried by general court-martial within a few days. The army works quickly, he explained. He said the trial would be held as quickly as evidence against him can be assembled.

Place where the trial will be held has not been decided upon, but it may be held at either Dibble Hospital or at the Presidio in San Francisco, Colonel Steele said.

Civilian authorities will be called as witnesses at the trial, Colonel Steele stated. The case will be tried by a body of from seven to 13.

Explaining how quickly the army works in such cases, Colonel Steele pointed out a case in Sacramento where a Negro stabbed a person to death and four days ago, only three weeks after the stabbing, the Negro had been tried by a court-martial and sentenced to die.

Ellis was arrested for the murder after store associates here had recalled that a soldier named "Andy" had assertedly been friendly with Rose's wife, Mrs. Jeanette Rose, who also worked at the Purity Store on Marshall and Arguello Sts. here where Rose was manager.

Whitmore said today that he has not been in contact with Mrs. Rose, who left two weeks before the murder to visit relatives in Colorado. Rose's body was to be shipped to his home state of Colorado.

Burlingame Burglar Nets $3450 in Loot

A burglar who ransacked three apartments in the Bayshore Motel in Burlingame early Sunday morning while tenants slept, secured loot totaling approximately $3450—including $2800 in war and postal savings bonds, $350 in cash, and $224 in payroll checks.

Principal victim of the theft was C. M. Lingle, a Consolidated-Vultee Air Corp. employe, who lost $350 in cash, postal savings bonds in his wife's name in the amount of $2068, war bonds in his own name totalling between $800 and $900, and three payroll checks amounting to $225.

Burglars who entered the home of Harry W. Spalding, 211 Warren Rd., San Mateo, sometime Saturday night, escaped with $78.40 in cash and currency, Spalding reported to San Mateo city police.

It was believed by Spalding, he said, that the burglary took place sometime between 7 and 10:30 p.m. while he and his wife were attending a show.

It wasn't until morning, Spalding said, that he discovered the loss. The currency was on a shelf in a hall closet. Three dollars and forty cents in a dresser drawer was also missing. He found a window open in his den and a window to the dining room unlocked.

Mills Hospital Gets New Annex

SAN MATEO — Mills Memorial Hospital has leased an annex of Community Hospital formerly used to handle tubercular patients, and will use it to handle an overflow of patients from Mills, it was learned this week.

Paul I. Fagan, chairman of the board of trustees of Mills, disclosed today that he has arranged with County Executive Frederick Peterson for Mills to rent the annex from the county. The arrangement was endorsed by Dr. C. C. Gans, county director of public health.

Mills will rent the Community Hospital on a month to month basis Fagan said. He declined to reveal the amount of rent which Mills will pay the county.

Renovation and repainting of the annex will begin this afternoon. Fagan hoped Mills could take occupancy of the annex within 30 days.

The annex, a stuccoed wooden structure behind Community Hospital, at present houses only nine Japanese-American patients described as arrested tubercular cases. Before the establishment of Canyon Sanatorium, the annex was used as a tuberculosis ward and was known as the "pavilion."

It takes lots of diamonds to fight a war. Production plants of the United States alone used more than a ton of them in a single war year in various types of cutting tools.

GARDEN: Further Advice Offered on Plant Growing

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

(We started yesterday with the answer to the question of "How do plants grow?" by quoting from my book "War Gardens", and today we'll continue.)

"Two natural questions at this point are: (1) What are the properties plants need in the air, water, and soil? (2) How do plants use them? To grow vegetables (or flowers) with some degree of understanding, rather than by rule alone, these questions must be dealt with, and here briefly. You should know that science has not yet been able to answer them completely.

"All matter on earth, including the living plants and animals and the atmosphere enveloping it, is composed of chemical elements and their compounds. Scientific research has discovered and named 92 elements and there is no practical limit to the number of compounds.

"All matter has physical and chemical properties, and the chemistry of matter is studied under two general classifications: (1) 'Inorganic' materials, and (2) 'Organic' materials—those containing carbon and known as the 'Carbon Compounds'. To understand in a general way how plants grow, we must now consider some of the more important chemical elements and compounds.

"By far the greatest part of all vegetable matter consists of water, a chemical compound of Hydrogen and Oxygen. When the water, which accounts for more than 90 per cent of the weight of most plants is evaporated, other chemical compounds are left, and these are known as carbohydrates, proteins, fats, and minerals. These are organic compounds (since they are part of a living organism), but some are derived from inorganic compounds and elements.

"The principal chemical elements found in plants are Carbon, Hydrogen and Oxygen taken from the air and water. From the soil, plants take compounds containing the elements of Nitrogen, Phosphorus, Potassium, Magnesium, Calcium, Iron, Sulphur, Silicon, Sodium, Chlorine, Aluminum, Copper, Zinc, Manganese, Boron, Cobalt, Iodine, Molybdenum, and minute amounts of numerous others.

"One class of plants, the legumes, (beans, peas, etc.) have the capacity of 'fixing', or combining nitrogen from the air with other compounds.

"Aside from the Oxygen, Carbon and Hydrogen which make up 97.4 per cent of the corn kernel, Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Potassium are the elements present in greatest amount. They account for 2.4 per cent of the kernel, leaving only 0.2 per cent for all of the other elements combined. And yet we note that these three elements which the plant must take from the soil are present in very small amounts in the earth's crust. These three, Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Potassium are regarded as "fertilizer" elements because they must be added to most soils for best plant growth.

"We can readily understand how the elements derived from the soil must be dissolved, or in solution, in order to pass into the combines with other elements.

"As shown in previous paragraphs, Carbon forms a high percentage (45) of the corn kernel, and this is true in all other vegetables as well. The quantity of Carbon in the air is about one part in 10,000 parts of air. This is present, not as a free element, but as a compound of Carbon and Oxygen, called Cardon Dioxide. (The chemical symbol is CO_2).

"There are four parts of this Carbon Dioxide compound to every 100,000 parts of air. Since about 90 per cent of the solid matter of the vegetable is made up of the carbon which must be taken from the air, we can understand why plants grown indoors must have ventilation. Otherwise, they use up the Carbon Dioxide in the air and suffer for more."

Well, we're far from through with the sequence. Since I know that some greenthumbers are clipping this explanation, we'd better continue with it tomorrow.

News of Commuters

BY JOE CABOOSE

Now that the million-$ bond issue has a fair chance of passing, we take a new interest in Bob Mead's pamphlet "Postwar Redwood City." It's a fascinating print job. The illustrating artist sure had imagination . . . and humor! That "California Square" drawing on page 6 for instance. Look's like a page from H. G. Wells' "World of Tomorrow." The artist bogged down a little though with his fire house on page 14. Mary Ryan won't like that. We have more impressive buildings on the back end of lots in Alabama.

Frankly, we feel that the nub and kernel of the City Plan is missing. "Something should be added." At the risk of being tiresome, we shall repeat an opinion held by most commuters and many non-commuters as well; that no plan for Redwood City is adequate unless it is predicated on a separation of rail and surface traffic. Anything less is frosting without the cake. What profiteth a man if he has all these things . . . and gets slammed into kingdom come at a grade crossing? People will be killed and maimed, and business retarded, as long as rails and streets are one.

★ ★ ★

We mentioned our pet gripe in front of Dr. James Thornton, and he suggested we were definitely off base. (The slang is our own; not the learned doctor's, heaven forbid!) He explained patiently (in one-syllable words so we could understand) that grade-crossing separation was more than a civic project; that it involved federal, state, county and city governments, not to mention the Southern Pacific, the Highway Commission, interested property owners, and probably Orson Welles. At any rate it was just a terrific undertaking, requiring "enabling acts," corpus delicti's and a status quo or two.

Our unlettered reply was "So what?" And we repeat, so what? If Palo Alto and a lot of other towns between here and Salinas can separate their grade crossings, why can't the county seat of San Mateo County? And when was there ever a better time to do it than now when the S.P. has more money than it knows what to do with. We just read where American railroads are paying $4,250,000 every 24 hours to the government in taxes. Money spent for grade crossing separation would be tax exempt. And it would save human lives . . . perhaps mine and yours.

Pres. Stan Perkins dropped by with a clipping about Maj. Joseph E. Primeau, charter commuter and esteemed Redwood citizen. Major Joe had been summoned to Washington and assigned "the tremendous task of feeding the Army Air Corps, the world around," to quote the clipping, which continues: "The job will require traveling all over the world. Joe's new headquarters will be in Baltimore, Md." It was also rumored that Joe was being promoted to rank of lieutenant colonel, on which we lack confirmation.

And that reminds us, Col. Harry Day's wife, Mrs. Irene Day (known to Commuters as "The Colonel's Lady") asks us to mention that the Red Cross Camp and Hospital Service, of which she is chairman, is in need of many more gifts for service people on ships and trains and in hospitals at Christmas time. There may be lots of things around the house you never use that would make service men happy—small musical instruments, stationery, toilet articles, decks of cards, books etc. One word of warning, don't try to palm off any of those Christmas ties your wife bought you. The service men can't use 'em. In lieu of gifts, money will do.

Our chief source of news—the Great One who knows all and sees all—is duck hunting at Teal, (or so he told his wife), so our Commuter "personals" are light today. We were surprised because Curran told us he was "off duck hunting" since that wounded mallard flew into the barrel with him early one morning and bit him on the leg. We were glad to see Bill go, however, because that's a sign Mrs. Curran ("Eedie") is much better. "Eedie" had been quite ill, you know; Bill was so worried last week he did the dishes several times. We are all delighted to know "Eedie" is better.

Air Cadet George Welch of Merced visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Welch, over the weekend. Also visiting at the Welch home were Air Cadet Harvey Lynch, Mrs. Welch's nephew, and Harvey's wife. Harvey and George are first cousins, but had never met before. The former is stationed at Stockton. . . . Ed Horgan and wife have gone to Eagle Pass, Tex., to watch their boy get his wings in the Army Air Corps today. . . . Tom Cutting has received an interesting letter from his boy, Tom Jr., who is with MacArthur's invasion forces in the Philippines. . . . Young Tom is atached to the 96th Division which has been in the thick of the Leyte fighting. . . . Fred Dutweiler also has a boy in the same savage action. May their guardian angels protect them all.

The House Committee met last week at Lu Reiss' home and discussed plans for a proposed Christmas party, also arrangements for a special party for the scouts and cubs sponsored by the Commuters Club. A special meeting, "to tie the loose ends down" on both affairs, will be held tomorrow (Tuesday) night at Chairman Welch's house.

Junior College Students Open War Loan Drive

San Mateo Junior College students helped open the Sixth War Loan Drive by selling more than $30,000 worth of stamps and bonds at a public auction at the college Friday.

The Alameda Coast Guard band, and three radio stars, Armand Girard, baritone, "Uncle" Bennie Walker, and Daryl Hutchens, were on hand to provide the entertainment and to run the auction.

Peninsula merchants donated the articles auctioned. The student bond sales committee arranged the event.

Deny Vollmann New Trial In $5000 Bribe Case

Superior Court Judge Edward J. Tyrrell of Oakland recently denied A. L. (Red) Vollmann, of San Carlos, former California State Farm Production Council official under a prison sentence of one to 14 years for receiving a $5000 bribe, a new trial.

A stay of execution was granted by Judge Tyrrell pending appeal and set arguments on a motion for bail for Wednesday. Vollmann will remain in the Alameda County jail instead of being sent to San Quentin Prison pending appeal.

Scouters Hold Second Leadership Seminar

The second session of the Scouter's Seminar being held under the personal direction of Ian Lang, council chairman for leadership training, was held in the Central School auditorium Monday night.

The first session held on last Tuesday was attended by a group of more than 20 Scouters who discussed the duties of troop committeemen and unit leaders.

Last night's meeting was turned over to a presentation of factors relating to troop organization and program planning. The session was in charge of C. K. Eisler, field executive of the San Mateo County Council.

Interested business and professional men are invited to attend the sessions.

The final session of the Seminar will be held on Tuesday night, Nov. 28.

Speeder Spends Days Off in Jail

Bus Driver Torjus L. Imslund, 712 Harwood St., Menlo Park, will spend his "day off"—Monday of each week—in San Mateo's city jail for the next five weeks.

Appearing before Municipal Judge Francis W. Murphy last Monday, Imslund learned that justice may be tempered with mercy when the judge modified his edict of "five days in jail" for 42 miles per hour bus driving on San Mateo Drive's 25-mile-zone, to allow the driver privilege of "doing the time on his own time."

"It isn't fair," the judge explained, "to penalize Imslund's wife and child by making the driver lose his working time with the bus line.

"So, beginning Monday," he told Imslund, "you will spend five successive Mondays in jail from 7 a.m. until 12 midnight."

Name Galloway To Replace Honore

William M. Galloway, 39, 440 Roosevelt Ave., has been named by County Clerk William H. Augustus as chief deputy county clerk, to replace Harald (Hal) Honoré, who resigned to accept a position with a theater chain in Eureka.

Galloway at present is a civilian liaison officer at Joshua Hendy Foundry Works in Sunnyvale. He is a veteran of World War II. Before entering the service he was employed by the Charles G. Lambert real estate and insurance firm here. He is married and has a family.

He is to start his new duties Dec. 1. The job pays a base salary of $255 a month plus $20 war bonus.

Firemen Spot Fire---Halt Same

Spotting a fire in the Murray & Fowler Tire Shop, 1007 Jefferson Ave., Redwood City firemen extinguished the blaze Sunday morning at 7:56 o'clock before the flames damaged more than the floorboards.

Believed to have been started by an overheated boiler, the fire could have done considerable damage if it had gone unnoticed, Chief Mark Ryan said.

The fire was first seen by Fireman William Lutje who, with other members of the department, was reporting for work on the day shift.

A false alarm at the Port of Redwood City today called out the fire engines at 11:09 a.m.

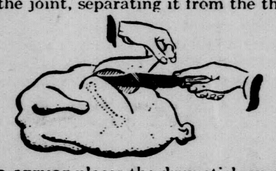
A New way to Carve

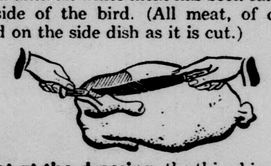
Will your holiday bird be carved with professional skill? There's a simple, modern way to do it just as adroitly as do the smart chefs. The drawings and instructions given below are taken from a book "How to Carve Meat, Game and Poultry", by M. O. Cullen of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Suggestion: clip them for the use of the family carver!

After the turkey, roasting chicken, or other large fowl has been brought to the table on a platter, breast up and with the legs pointing to the right or left (depending on whether the carver is right or left-handed), the carver turns the turkey on its side so the back is toward him. Then he removes the drumstick by grasping the outer end and pulling gently while the knife cuts through the joint, separating it from the thigh.

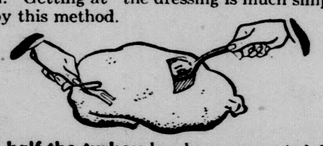


Then the carver places the drumstick on a side plate, holding it upright, and slices its meat off, carving parallel with the bone. Next, he cuts thin slices from the thigh, continuing until the thigh bone itself is exposed. Then he loosens the meat on each side of the thigh bone with tip of his knife, and removes the bone with tines of fork. Remaining thigh meat is sliced off while still attached to the bird.

Slicing breast meat with the grain, the carver takes lengthwise slices from the breast and wing until wing-to-body joint is exposed. Fork is established in wing, and wing is unjointed from body with knife. Thin lengthwise slices are removed until all white meat has been carved from this side of the bird. (All meat, of course, is placed on the side dish as it is cut.)



To get at the dressing, the thin skin under the thigh is slit with tip of the knife, making an opening large enough to allow entrance of serving spoon. "Getting at" the dressing is much simplified by this method.



Once half the turkey has been accounted for, in this manner—and provided the carver needs still more meat for a complete serving—the platter's position is reversed. The bird is turned over, to put the meaty side on top again. And the process is repeated. Simple? Of course!
